possible, en account of our being able to reduce our store expenses by at least 10 We have about $100,000 worth of stock We have about $100,000 worth of stock to dispose of between this and moving time, which will be as soon as we can convert the old Eink into a modern fur-niture establishment. We propose to dispose of every dollar's worth of our present stock, if possible to do so, as we wish to open the new store with an en-tiraly new stock.

If you are in need of anything in our line it will most assuredly pay you to look it through thoroughly and secure prices before making purchases else-where, for we believe that we are in a position to save you at least 25 per cent on anything you wish to buy. Special attention is called to the reduc-tion in the Wall Paper Department, as we are closing out the entire balance of stock in this department. This stock

CARPETS REDUCED.

We shall offer the balance of our stock of Celebrated Westminster Carpets at the reduced price of 75c. These have been $1 per yard and do not seem to be apprecisted. They will butweer any lagrain Carpet, and yet Inkrain Carpets outsell them. We have about 32 patterns and shall close them out at 73c. per yard.

GREAT OFFERING OF HASSOCKS. These we have just made up from our remnants of carpets, and inasmuch so we are unable at all times to have them on hand, ladies should take advantage of this optortunity and buy a number of them, as there is no telling when we can have another lot made up. 560 Tapestry Carpet Hassocks, only Curtain Lace, reduced from 73c. to 25c. per yard. per yard.

5 pieces of 50-inch Tamboured Sash
Curtain Lace, reduced from $1.75 to
75c. per yard. You may think it strange that we are making this reduction so heavy, but in the 50-inch Curtain Lace the sale has been very slow on account of the fact that ladies buy the regular curtains instead of this width. hence we are compelled to make this extraordi-nary reduction in order to dispose of

EIDERDOWN QUILTS REDUCED. Having but S left we shall close them 8 Sais Fattern Finest Quality of Elder-down Quilts, reduced from $30 to $22

REMOVAL SALE PRICES OF CURTAINS

These are by far the very best bargains ever offered in Curtains. Where the re-ductions are so very heavy there is usu-ally a reason forit. Some of them are in bad colorings. We call them bad, but you may like them better than the 12 pairs of All-over Chenille Curtains in Dark Wine, Blue and Crimson; 316 yards long and 72 inches wide; reduced from $20 to $5 per pair. The quality is O.K., but the colorings rest with you. 17 pairs of Lerion Madras Curtain beautiful designs; reduced from $2.50

THE PALAIS ROYAL HOLIDAY "OPENING" POSITIVELY TERMINATES emorrow, Wednesday evening, at 6 o'clock. If resident here for long you great the full meaning of this announcement. Late residents are informed that tomorrow presents the last opportunity to select Christmas presents at the reduced prices quoted for the "opening," list of which will be found in lower portion of these columns.

To APPRECIATE THE SOUVENIR LIST

You should know that it embraces over 200,000 articles for Christmas Presents, including an entirely new stock of the very latest novelties, already marked of prices lower than usually prevail, because of the Palais Royal's cash business. In support of this statement we point to the following:

Christmas Umbrellas For Men And Women,

Men's Umbrellas are here from 97a to $15 each. Take the cheapest: 97c. for Genuine "Gloria" Umbrellas. Is not $1.25 the prevailing price? Now look at these Concestogs Silk Umbrellas marked $3.25, $3.98, $4.25 and $5. You will and identical Umbrellas elsewhere, but what are the prices?

Now these Silk Umbreilas for ladies: The handles make them easily compared with Ithose elsewhere; these of horn, twisted in all manner of curious shapen, and these with flagree silver mountings, and these of moss agate, onyx and gold stone and these of Etruscan or dull gold, and these handles from the Royal Leicester potteries-all are this season's novelties and shown in all first-class stores, but how often can you buy any one of them at less than $57 You will find these prices marked on ours: 183.96, $3.48, $2.98, $2.68. Initials engraved on all our Umbrellas free of charms.

WHO'S MANDLEBERG AND HODGMAN?

The former has factories in Manchester and London, England, the latter in New York. They are the two leading manufacturers of Rubber Garments. You'll find their goods where the best are on sale. We ask comparison of the prices marked on the garments here and elsewhere. The latest novelties for ladies and men's wear are here. Single and double texture, with and without capes.

CHRISTMAS SCARFS FOR THE MEN.

Not only Scarfs, but all kinds of Men's Furnishings, are quoted on the Souvenir List, but you obtain no idea of the qualifies. Bilk Suspenders are here in boxes at rather extravagant prices, but see those marked only $1. And Christmas Scarfs, too; all prices, of course. But here are wonders, marked only 59c. each, of the richest silks and satins, richly embroidered, four-in-band and knot shapes, made to sell at $1 and $1.25 each. The loss of the too ambitious manufacturer, whose artistic taste went ahead of his pocke thook.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN LOVES TO WEAR.

SILK STOCKINGS are here from 75c. to 85.68 a pair, and Vests to match from Got. to $7.50c. each. Even at 75 cents not a destrable shade is missing in Stock-ings or Vests, Fast Black also. And Garters, too, from 40c. to $5 a pair; the latter from Paris, with sterling silver buckles. Everything that is generally scarce in plentiful here; extra sizes and opera length Stockings, Tights, Union Suits, &c. See below for the Special Prices. To the left are the prices marked on the goods, to the right the "Opening" prices.

Continuing his presentation of the case for the counters, Sir Edward Clarke stated that when nothing to do with the troubles. When the countees was suffering from an attack of influenza the carl, Sir Edward declared, compelled the countees to accompany him on reckless drives in inclement weather, much to her injury. The earl made it a practice to leave her room and go and stay late with a man named Roberts, who was sleeping in the house. He made the countees go to the servants' closets to see if they were provided with the proper requisites.

go to the servants' closets to see if they were provided with the proper requisites.

As an evidence of the estimation in which the earl held his wife Sir Edward stated that he often said he would like to see her carried out of the house in a coffin.

Referring to the earl's nets, Sir Edward said that he would compel the countess to arise after she had retired and go down stairs to lock up. He would then abuse her in the most up. He would then abuse her in the most violent terms. On more than one occasion he threw her to the floor and commanded her not to move until he returned and gave her per-mission. Sir Edward denied the charge mission. Sir Edward denied the charge against the countess that she was of a hysterical nature. When Sir Edward had concluded his address he called the first witness.

Lonnon, Dec. 1.—The advices from Brazil regarding the situation in Rio Grande de Sulure of such an extremely conflicting character that it is impossible to conceive the true situa-against the countess that she was of a hysterical nature. When Sir Edward had concluded his address he called the first witness.

COUNTESS RUSSELL TESTIFIES.

This was the Countess Russell. She arose from her seat in the rear of the roomand made her way to the witness box. When she had taken her place Sir Edward proceeded to question her. He first asked regarding the presence of the man Roberts in the house and the earl's visits to the room occupied by him.

The countess stated in reply that she had remonstrated with the earl because of these visits. Sir Edward then asked her if the earl gave any reasons for going to Roberts' room.

To this the countess made no reply, but said that the earl was more unkind to her when Roberts was in the house.

Replying to other questions, the countess said the earl had told her that he kept a loaded pistol convenicnt; that he would shoot her if she annoyed him.

she annoyed him. A SLIGHT SENSATION.

Upon the conclusion of the direct examina-tion by Sir Edward Clarke the witness was cross-examined by Sir Charles Russell. He opened by asking the countess if she meant to make any imputation against her husband or

The witness replied with decision, "Yes."
This answer, which was given with snap and vim, created a sensation in the court room.
The witness then added that she had never

John Francis Stanley Russell, Earl Russell and Viscount Amberley, was born August 12, 1865, and is, therefore, only about twenty-six years old. He succeeded to the earldom on the death of his grandfather, John, the first Earl Nussell.

On February 6, 1890, the earl married Mabel, daughter of the late Sir Claude Scott, and a very short time afterward the wife left her husband, alleging that he was cruel to her.

While the earl was at college at Oxford he was noted for his eccentric theological and political views, and after his marriage his actions were such that the countess believed him to be insane and was in fear of her life. It is alleged that he compelled her to submit to indignities he compelled her to submit to indignities of a peculiarly horrible nature, and for which, upon conviction in a criminal court, the minimum punishment is seven years' imprisonment. The evidence for the petitioner was said to be of such a character that it was believed the case would be heard in camera, but the proceedings today were in open court. The earl denies each and every one of the allegations made by his wife and claims that the whole trouble is due to his mother-in-law.

Sir Charles Russell appeared for the earl and Sir Edward Clarke, the solictor general, represented the countess.

HER PETITION. The petition of the countess states that from the time she was married, in February, 1890, until she left him, Earl Russell habitually until she left him, Earl Russell habitually treated her with great harshness and cruelty, terrifying her and injuring her health.

The earl compelled her to remain until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning doing his accounts. When she was unable to complete them he called her a useless, uneducated woman and an ungrateful devil. He also threatened her with a revolver. Not content with abusing and insulting her in the privacy of their apartments he acted toward her in such a way that she was humiliated before her servants.

he acted toward her in such a way that she was humiliated before her servants.

The court room was crowded with a large number of persons, who listened with close attention to the proceedings.

The countess, accompanied by her mother and sister, was present. She and her relatives occupied seats in the back part of the court room, seeming to desire to escape from the observation of the crowd, but they listened eagerly to Sir Edward Clarke as he eloquently set forth to the court the wrongs of his client.

SIR EDWARD'S OPENING.

Sir Edward Clarke, for the petitioner, in opening the case today said that the parties to the suit had lived together for only four months owing to the conduct of the earl. Afterward the countess was induced to return to her hus-band, and they resumed their former marital relations. This continued but a short time, band, and they resumed their former marital relations. This continued but a short time, however, when the countess found the earl's actions intolerable and they again separated.

After this last separation the earl wrote affectionately to the countess and implored her to return to him. The countess was persuaded against her better judgment and returned to her husband. But his affectionate treatment of her was of short duration; the again used personal violence against her and made her life miserable. Once he drove her from bed and she fainted upon the floor. When she came to she dragged herself to the room of her nurse and spent the remainder of the night there. The earl sought her in this room, but she threatened to throw herself from the window if he entered and by this threat she was enabled to avoid him.

The countess lost all hope of living happily with her husband and she again left him. Prior to the separation the matter of the countess' support was talked over and the earl agreed to allow her £80 per month for her expenses. This agreement the earl violated. He paid the first monthly allowance, but after that the countess received nothing from him except cheeks for the promised amount, which sheeks when presented at the bank were returned dishonored.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1 .- The trial of John White, late business manager of the San Francisco Call, for embezzlement yesterday brought out some astonishing disclosures. White confessed that he had stolen $50,000, most of which was sunk in horse racing and speculation. He had an arrangement with the cashier by which had an arrangement with the cashier by which both took from the money drawer what they wanted and arranged the cash to fit the deficit. White was a high roller and squandered $10,000 in a few weeks on the races. He sunk $7,000 trying to float a patent medicine and lost $10,000 in a land deal near Death valley. The cash was not balanced in the office for six years and the proprietor knew nothing of what was going on. It was only through an employe that he learned of the wholesale robbery.
